

Setanta Sports joins Grassroot Soccer on World AIDS Day

Monday, December 1st is World AIDS Day and Setanta Sports is joining forces with Grassroot Soccer to celebrate the finale of Dribble 2008, a campaign to raise awareness about the use of soccer to fight HIV/AIDS.

Ethan Zohn, CBS's "Survivor Africa" Winner and Founder of Grassroot Soccer started dribbling a soccer ball from Foxboro Stadium in August and will be finishing his 550-mile journey in Washington, D.C. next Monday.

If you are in the DC area on Monday, December 1 you are invited to join Setanta Sports, Ethan Zohn, Ben Olsen of DC United, Rebecca Moros of the Washington Freedom, public health experts, local and national media, and youth and adults from all over the DC area for this final event.

Mark your calendars!

Monday, December 1, 2008

- 3:00 p.m. - Supporters arrive at Jefferson Memorial
- 3:15 p.m. - Informal remarks to supporters and press
- 3:30 p.m. - Final dribble led by Ben Olsen and Rebecca Moros

For more information, visit <http://grassrootsoccerunited.org/>.